

When I say White,
It means that my words

Is going out buying the newspaper of the day before, going to the cinema with a ticket for a screening in another cinema, sleeping on the floor with your feet facing the West, where it goes down you do not expect something may arise, jealously taking care of the train tickets wherewith you went the first time in Bologna for the entrance test of DAMS, being able to eat a jar of Nutella without teaspoon, squeezing the pimples in the bathroom with the bitten nails, putting fingers in the nose while watching a vegan documentary, drinking expired water and doing homogenized burps, bargaining for a pair of fake sunglasses, splitting the atom and calculating the metric of a sonnet.

Merely.

Is basically anything you want, except what you do not want, where for want,
I can provide a considerable list of inanimate objects that if used can become the want, where,
apart,
substantially,
is.

The time of a hug is given by the position of the tallest person of the two that circumscribe themselves.

White